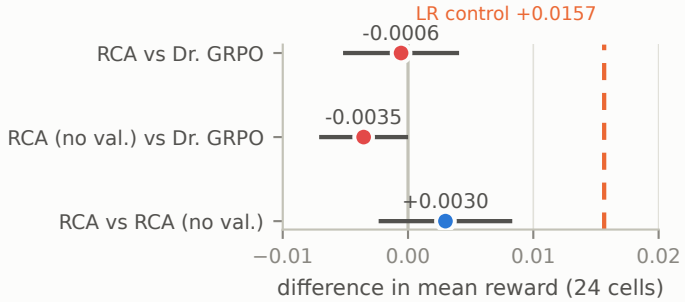
Reflective credit assignment: a bounded null on every comparison



Dots are point estimates, rules are 95% intervals. The dashed rule is the learning-rate positive control, an effect the same apparatus detects, an order of magnitude larger than anything RCA produces and outside every interval shown.